

COMPETITIVE SELECTION PROCESS NOTIFICATION

the Director of the Copernicus Center for Interdisciplinary
Studies of the Jagiellonian University
Registered Office: ul. Kopernika 27
31-501 Kraków, Poland

Kraków, on June 10, 2021

RECTOR of the Jagiellonian University announces a competitive selection process for the post of an ASSISTANT PROFESSOR in the research staff member group at the Copernicus Center for Interdisciplinary Studies of the Jagiellonian University in academic discipline:
psychology or biological sciences, computer and information sciences or philosophy or linguistics in the domain of mind and cognition research

Duration of the contract: 30 months

The competitive selection process is open for all individuals who meet the requirements set out in Articles 113 and 116.2.3) of the Act of 20 July 2018 – Law on Higher Education and Science, and who meet the following eligibility criteria according to § 165 of the Statute of the Jagiellonian University:

- 1) Holding at least a doctoral degree;
- 2) Having relevant scientific achievements;
- 3) Taking active part in scientific life.

Additionally:

The candidate should:

- have relevant publication record at the international level in terms of papers in peer-reviewed journals and/or books;

Details:

- for papers in peer-reviewed journals, relevant publication record at the international level implies indexing of a given journal in one of the international databases: Scopus, Science Citation Index Expanded, Web of Science, etc. and having an impact factor; if the journal has been established recently and therefore does not meet the above-mentioned conditions, the selection board will evaluate its quality on the basis of its relation to an internationally recognized scientific society;
- for a book monograph, a relevant publication record at the international level is understood here as the presence of a given publishing house at level 2 of the Polish ministerial list. If a monograph is written in a language other than Polish and published by a level 1 publishing house, the selection board will examine its quality individually (for example: a book published by Springer or Palgrave Macmillan is in principle an appropriate monograph with an international status);
- publishing chapters in monographs or scientific editing of monographs and or editing special (thematic) issues of journals at the international level in the above sense will be an additional advantage;
- have experience in international academic cooperation (e.g., research stay during a doctorate, postdoctoral fellowship, cooperation with individual foreign scientists documented by publications or joint conference presentations, etc.);
- have experience in organizational and project work, in particular in managing or implementing research projects financed from external sources by way of a competition (e.g., National Science Centre of Poland, other state/national grant agencies, foundations supporting science, etc.);
- declare their readiness to conduct research on the mind and cognition; declared research should be conducted on the basis of the broadly understood components of the 4I principle: internationalization, interdisciplinarity, innovation, integrity;
- present a project of their research on the mind and cognition that they intend to implement during the period of employment;
- have good knowledge of at least one methodology used in widely understood research on the mind and cognition;
- have experience in interdisciplinary scientific work (understood, for example, as participation in interdisciplinary research teams);

We offer:

- full-time position of research assistant professor without teaching duties;
- a fixed-term employment contract for 30 months;
- access to research funds in the total amount of PLN 100 000 for 30 months; funds may be allocated to adapting the workplace, purchase of equipment (e.g., a computer), participation in conferences, short study trips, etc.

The candidate who would like to take part in the competitive selection process should submit the following documents to the email address: copernicuscenterlab@uj.edu.pl

1. Application form;
2. CV;
3. Information about the candidate's international scientific experience, project (indicating sources of funding), teaching and organizational experience, list of awards/prizes and distinctions (if any);
Note: Items 2 and 3 may be contained in one document;
4. List of publications (underlining the three that the candidate considers the most important);
5. Personal data form for the person applying for employment *;
6. Copy of the doctoral (Ph.D.) diploma or a diploma confirming the candidate's habilitation degree, if applicable;
7. Reviews of a doctoral dissertation or habilitation thesis – if the candidate has one;
8. The last periodic evaluation form, if the candidate was subject to such evaluation;
9. Declaration of the candidate, confirming that the Jagiellonian University will be their primary place of work in the case of being selected in the competitive selection process *;
10. Declaration under Article 113 of the Law on Higher Education and Science *;
11. Declaration on acknowledging and accepting the rules and regulations concerning intellectual property management and commercialisation in force at the Jagiellonian University*;
12. Information regarding processing of personal data *;
13. A declaration of intention to conduct research on the mind and cognition along with a description of the research project. Note: The description of the research project should be prepared in English in the form of 5-10 pages of a standardized text: Times New Roman, font 12, line spacing 1.5; it should include a reference to the current state of research, hypotheses, methods, scope of the planned work with a schedule of tasks over time, as well as the assumed publication goals.
